- Graduation project: Wireless transmitter.
- Graduation project grade: Excellent (200/200).

Graduation project (Wireless transmitter)

complex modulation, such as (QAM),(WCDMA) and (OFDM)are widely used in wireless communication standards , these technologies result in high PAPR so power amplifiers are forced to operate at a large back off, where efficiency drops drastically.to overcome this problem, several techniques are used but the best solution is Doherty power amplifier. In any wireless system there is AD converter with PA which results in PAE near to 33% but in our project the output of DSM have a coding efficiency and the PAE that out from DPA is 63% that the overall efficiency is 39% we have enhanced the efficiency of the transmitter and that we have aimed to.
