- PILE DRIVING USED IN CONSTRUCTION OF RETAINING WALLS
  - The method of driving sheet pile is different from driving permanent piles. Once the proper pile driver has been selected, place the sheet piles on the location. The joints of the sheet pile must be inspected to see that they are interlocking. If they do not interlock, they will need to be removed and replaced. Remember that the sheet piles will be used as supporting walls, so it is very important that they are installed correctly. Pile driving machines are the best machines to install the sheet pile. Hydraulic hammers tend to work best, driving the piles deep into the ground the first time around
